

PREVENTING CHILD ABUSE IS EVERYONE'S BUSINESS

One way to help is to become a volunteer. Volunteers are important leaders in the field of child abuse prevention. Everyone can help protect families and children in the community. Most organizations have limited budgets and need volunteers. The following list offers some examples of ways community members can help.

- ❖ Serve as a parent aide at a child abuse prevention agency.
- ❖ Speak with business leaders about donating to your community's council.
- ❖ Provide child care, transportation, or coordinate programs for a self-help group.
- ❖ Staff telephones and supply referral information for your community's council.
- ❖ Mentor a child.
- ❖ Teach appropriate child raising techniques to participants in a parent education program.
